¹ Variable rate security; rate shown is the rate in effect on March 31, 2020. An index may have a negative rate. Interest rate may also be subject to a ceiling or floor.

² Security exempt from registration under Rule 144A of the Securities Act of 1933. These securities may be resold in transactions exempt from registration, normally to qualified, institutional buyers. At March 31, 2020 the value of these securities amounted to $43,046,863 or 8.5% of net assets.

³ Perpetual call date security. Date shown is next call date.

⁴ Bank loans generally pay interest at rates which are periodically determined by reference to a base lending rate plus a premium. All loans carry a variable rate of interest. These base lending rates are generally (i) the Prime Rate offered by one or more major United States banks, (ii) the lending rate offered by one or more European banks such as the LIBOR or (iii) the Certificate of Deposit rate. Bank loans, while exempt from registration, under the Securities Act of 1933, contain certain restrictions on resale and cannot be sold publicly. Floating rate bank loans often require prepayments from excess cash flow or permit the borrower to repay at its election. The degree to which borrowers repay, whether as a contractual requirement or at their election, cannot be predicted with accuracy.

⁵ Fixed-to-variable or fixed-to-float bond; rate shown is the rate in effect on March 31, 2020. An index may have a negative rate. Interest rate may also be subject to a cap or floor.
